

Consent Form

This is a consent form.

“Giving consent” means agreeing that it is okay to do something.

This consent form is about sharing information about your life.

It is something you need to read and agree to before you take part.

There is information about why we are asking for your consent below.

What am I being asked to do?

- You are being asked to take part in an interview to talk about your experience.
- The interview is all about what it is like for children with disabilities who need to move to a new place because of a crisis.
- The questions will be about what it has been like for children trying to go to school in a new place.
- Children with disabilities and parents of children with disabilities will take part.

Who is asking me to take part?

- Inclusion International and the International Disability Alliance are collecting this information. They are two organisations that are run by people with disabilities.
- They are getting money to do this from ECW, which is a group that wants to make education in emergency situations better.

Why is this information being collected?

- Inclusion International and the International Disability Alliance care about children with disabilities who are living through crisis.
- They are doing a big project that will try to make sure children with disabilities are included in education in emergencies.
- To help make things better, they want to understand what your experience has been like. They will hear from parents and children about what needs to change.
- Then they will make tools and information for big organisations about how to better include children with disabilities in education in crisis situations.

How will what I tell you be used?

- Inclusion International and the International Disability Alliance will use the information you share to make resources for other organisations to use. These resources will help make sure children with disabilities are included at school in emergency situations.
- Information you share can be used in different ways. For example, they might use the things you say need to change to tell other organisations what to do. Or they might use a story you tell them to explain why something needs to change.
- None of the information we use about your experience will be able to be connected back to you. We will not use your name, or any information that would make it easy for someone to figure out who you are. This is called being “anonymous.”
- The only people who will hear the recordings of your interview are the project staff. After the notes about what you said in your interview are done, then the recording will be deleted. This is part of making sure that you are “anonymous.”

Collecting Qualitative Data from Children with Disabilities Annex A

Remember, you do not have to take part if you don't want to.

If you say no, nothing bad will happen. You can still take part in other things we do in the future.

You get to choose how we use your information. You can tell us what the rules are for using your stories by filling out the form below.

Please check the yes or no box based on what you want.

	Yes	No
To take part, you need to agree to these things.
I agree to take part in the interview.
I agree that what I say can be recorded.
I know that taking part is my choice.
I know that I can stop the interview at any time.

Collecting Qualitative Data from Children with Disabilities Annex A

	Yes	No
I know that if I change my mind after doing the interview, I have 15 days after the interview to ask for it to be deleted.
I agree that Inclusion International, the International Disability Alliance, and ECW can use what I say in the project work. For example, to help make reports and tools.
I agree that Inclusion International, the International Disability Alliance, and ECW can use what I say on social media, their websites, or other places.
I understand that if Inclusion International, the International Disability Alliance, and ECW my words or story, they will keep my name and information about me a secret.
I understand that I am not going to be paid for taking part.

The next section is “optional”. This means that you do not need to say yes to them, and you can still take part in the interview if you say no.

	Yes	No
I agree that pictures or videos can be taken of me.

Collecting Qualitative Data from Children with Disabilities
Annex A

	Yes	No
I agree that pictures or video of me can be shared by Inclusion International, the International Disability Alliance, and ECW.
I understand that my name and what I said in the interview will never be linked to my photo.

After you have checked the yes and no boxes, sign this page.

Name of the person taking part:

Today's date:

Where you signed this form (city and country):

Your signature:

Collecting Qualitative Data from Children with Disabilities
Annex A

If the person taking part is under 18, a parent or guardian must also sign here.

Name of the parent or guardian:

Relationship to the person taking part (for example, parent):

Parent or Guardian's signature:

Today's date:

